INTRODUCING GREENHOUSE, BY LABELTEX

A division of Labeltex that offers new, sustainable products, responsibly sourced to deliver a greener tomorrow. If you want packaging free of unnatural dyes or chemicals, made from recycled material, or biodegradable, Greenhouse has a responsible solution. Take your brand into the future of sustainability!

MODERN OPTIONS FOR SUSTAINABILITY

At Labeltex, we want our clients to know their options! We'll help to educate your team and present choices that align with your goals and your budget. Choose from a number of sustainable tracks on your next development.

COMPOSTABLE

This product breaks down into natural elements in a composting environment and causes no harm to the earth. Complete break down typically takes 6-9 months in an industrial facility and leaves no visible, distinguishable or toxic residue. These products can be made of cornstarch, PLA, or plant based polymers.

RECYCLED

Recycled products are produced with previously used material. A variety of materials such as paper, plastics and glass can be recycled and given a new life! Most recycled products are mixed with new materials during processing to help maintain their original properties while reducing waste.

OXO-DEGRADABLE

Oxo-degradable plastic has the same strength and look of standard plastic, but it includes additives which, through oxidation, lead to the fragmentation of the plastic material into micro-fragments and on to chemical decomposition. It's a great way to build products responsibly.

REUSABLE

Creating a package that can be reused or re-purposed is a great way to reduce waste and provide a great customer experience. Items like shopping bags or e-commerce boxes can be designed with a second use for the end user resulting in more life for the piece and greater brand exposure for you!
